Awana Helper

Hearing children recite God's Word from memory is a great blessing. Helping them know and understand the verses they hide in their hearts is a powerful ministry opportunity for you.

Helpers assist Awana Clubs™ leaders by hearing kids recite verses they've studied during the Handbook Time portion. Handbook Time is when children get individual attention from leaders and listeners to complete the handbook sections they worked on during the week.

Helpers work directly with a leader, club director or the Ministry Director based on the church's discretion. They should be clear on the church's handbook standards and uphold those guidelines with patience and grace as they assist children. Awana Helpers also need to be flexible. They can be assigned to work with children of different age groups from week to week depending on the club's needs.
